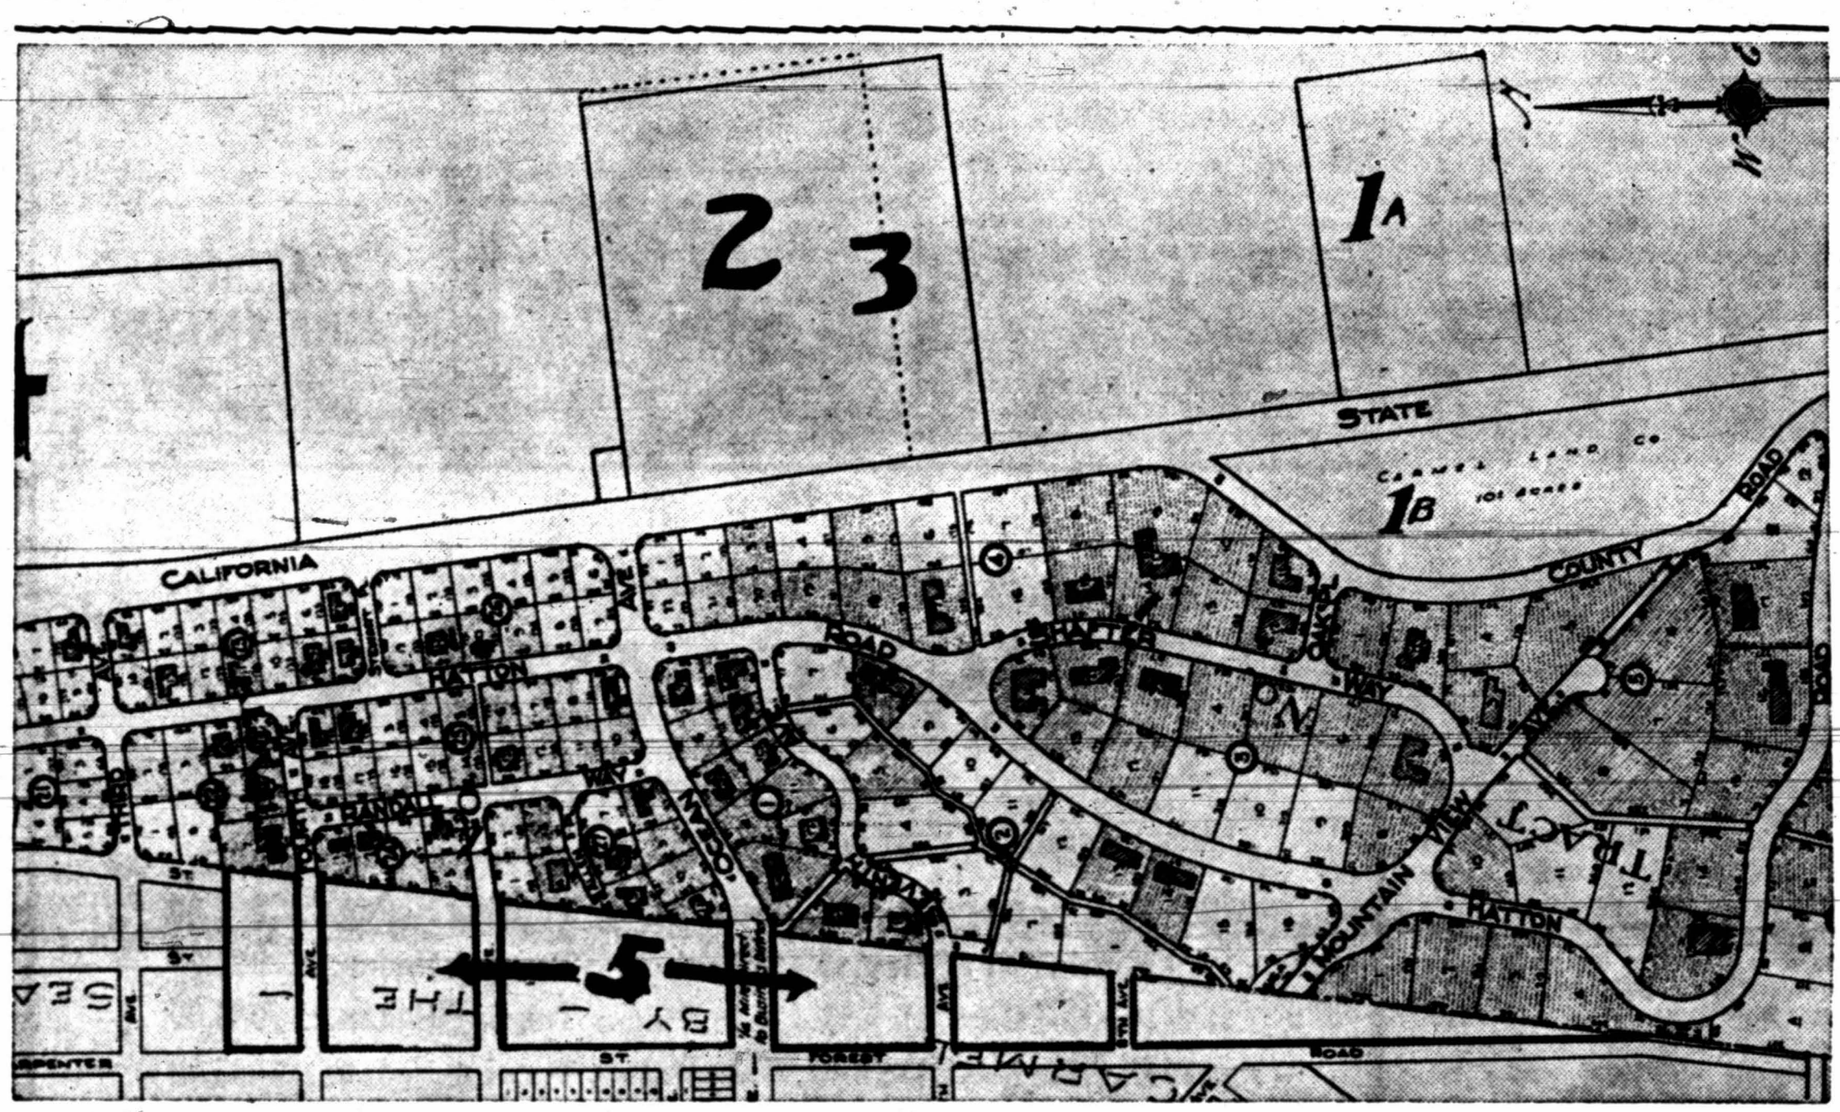
ELECTION ON HIGH SCHOOL SITES TUESDAY



THE MAP

Hatton Ranch and Paradise Park sites for the proposed Carmel High School are shown on the map in the above columns. At the top (marked 2-3) is the original layout of the Hatton Ranch site, to which has been added a strip along the southerly boundary to make a frontage on the highway of approximately 1100 feet. It is 950 feet deep, making a little more than 22 acres in all, of which the board of trustees regard 16 acres as available for buildings and football field. At the foot is the Paradise Park site, an elongated triangle (marked 5). (Other areas marked 1-a, 1-b and 4 are to be disregarded).

Sunset Library to be Polling Place

Eectors of the Sunset school dstrict will cast ballots Tuesday on their preference of high school sites, the Hatton Ranch site across the highway, southward from the end of Ocean avenue, and the Paradise Park site, along the east side of Carpenter street. Both are shown on the accompanying map.

The school board has stated its preference for the Hatton Ranch site of 22 acres, which adjoins the highway for 1100 feet and is 950 feet deep. It is rectangular in shape and about 16 acres are regarded as suitable for buildings and playing fields. The price is $31,000.

The small portion shown on the map opposite the end of Ocean avenue goes with the site to make an intersection with the highway. The board contemplates a pedestrian underpass and other safety measures.

The Paradise Park site is an elongated triangle and is not regarded by the board nearly as suitable for its purpose, even at a price lower than that of $34,500 at which it has been offered, as the Hatton Ranch site.

All electors are urged to cast their ballots in order to give a fair and genuine expression of popular sentiment. So far as is known, opponents of the Hatton Ranch site, so long loud in their attack, are not campaigning, and spokesmen for those who earlier made known in no uncertain terms their preference for the Hatton Ranch site said that no organized electioneering was under way. It is therefore urgent that everyone vote on Tuesday.

The polling place will be the Sunset school library. The poll will be open from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m.

For the board of trustees' statement regarding the election, please see the editorial page.

Three New Sunset Staff Members Named By Board

Three new teachers at Sunset school will replace the two who are resigning at the end of the school year and will take up the slack in the new program which will include the Carmel junior high school during the next year.

Otto W. Bardarson, district superintendent, this week announced the three new junior high teachers to be added to the staff as follows: Mrs. Phyllis Heath Walker, Miss Adele Osborne and Mrs. Miriam Watson, all highly recommended.

Resignations to take effect at the end of the term and accepted by the school board on Tuesday are those of Mrs. Hope Thomas Raggett, a recent bride, who will leave to establish her home in San Francisco, and Miss Anna Marie Baer, who will accept a position as supervisor of art in San Mateo schools. Miss Baer will, however, return after a year's absence, it was understood.

Faculty members whose contracts have been renewed by the school board are: Eleteth McQuilkin, Lilly C. Trowbridge, Helen Cowan Wood, Edna Lockwood, Grace Knowles, Florence Morrow, Helen Poulsen, Bernita Ninneman, Bernice Riley, Frances Farley, Alice Graham, R. J. Gale, Ann Uzzell, Clifford Squier, Arthur C. Hull, Ernest Calley, Frances Johnson, Elinor Shane Smith and Otto W. Bardarson, district superintendent. Calley is returning from a year's leave of absence.

The following statement by Superintendent Bardarson details the qualifications of each of the new faculty members:

Mrs. Phyllis Heath Walker, new science teacher at the Carmel junior high school, comes here from the Helen Bush School in Seattle. Mrs. Walker has an unusually wide background in all fields, and has had valuable experience as a councillor both in the Helen Bush School and in Girl Scout work. She has traveled extensively and two years ago taught in the Talbot Heath School, England, as an exchange teacher. Mrs. Walker received her B. A. degree from Stanford University, where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa; and obtained her M. A. degree from the University of Washington.

Miss Adele Osborne will be the new teacher of languages in the junior high school. She is a graduate of the University of California and has taken advanced work. She is highly recommended for her splendid work at the University high school.

Mrs. Miriam Watson, who will teach physical education for girls, is already well known locally. Mrs. Watson was in charge of girls' physical education at Monterey union high school for four years, and since that time has conducted her own studio in Carmel, teaching rhythmics, creative dancing, and ballroom dancing. Mrs. Watson received her professional preparation at the University of California and Fresno State.

Merchants Ask Welcome Sign for Dolores Street as Eight Indicate Wish

Eight Dolores street merchants' names were submitted with a request to the city council for permission to place a sign bearing the legend "Welcome to the shops along Dolores street" at Stella's corner on Ocean avenue.

Names contained in the letter were Fred L. Butterfield, Vera Vernon, "Doc" Jones, Robert Spencer, Rae Welsh, Ken Goold, W. L. Cook, Jack Abernethy, Jean Ritchie and Fred McIndoe.

No objection was raised.

Mrs. C. J. Ryland Rumored for Sunset Trustee Candidacy

Mrs. C. J. Ryland, wife of the Carmel architect, neither denied nor admitted yesterday that she would be a candidate for the Sunset school board. She was rumored in Carmel this week as a likely candidate.

Mrs. Louis Levinson is running to succeed Miss Clara Kellogg in the election June 2. Closing date for filing is May 18.

Business Licenses Come Up for Discussion at City Council Meeting

Increased business license fees loom for a number of Carmel firms, it was indicated during discussion of business licenses at Wednesday evening's city council meeting which followed upon similar discussion by the Carmel Business Association during past months.

Increase of the peddler's fee from $3 to $10 and of the wait between application and receipt of permit from three to ten days was recommended, along with upping the $6 fee for certain businesses to $12 hitherto favored under the ordinance.

Efforts to keep out "fly-by-night" firms through the $100 initial deposit may be strengthened, if wishes of the merchants group and members of the council are carried out.

Tickets will be five cents each, unless bought at the school in advance, when they will be knocked down at six to the quarter.

Anna Marie Baer Goes to San Mateo as Busy Program Awaits Her

Miss Anna Marie Baer is leaving Carmel at the end of the current school term to take the position of Supervisor of Art in the San Mateo elementary schools. But this is not all Miss Baer plans to do. She is going to be busier than the proverbial little bee, studying at Stanford University in order to obtain her master's degree in art and also taking work in dramatics and journalism. Besides this she plans to carry on a class in Adult Education in San Mateo similar to the one she has been conducting in Carmel during this last semester which is for those who have little or no previous experience in drawing and composition. Miss Baer is convinced that this class fills a definite community need and in San Mateo will aim to impress teachers themselves, through their work in her class her point of view and approach to this interesting situation.

The whole departure is in the nature of an experiment for Miss Baer as she was encouraged while at Columbia University two years ago to go into the field of Supervision or Teacher Training. This new position of hers in San Mateo will give her the opportunity to find out whether she prefers working directly with children or through other teachers as supervisor or demonstration teacher. If she doesn't find this work as interesting as that she has been doing in Sunset School she will return here at the end of the year. We wish Miss Baer success and a happy year in San Mateo but we sincerely appreciate her here and we hope she will return soon.

Carmel Woman's Club In Final Meeting of Year

Gladys Steele, vivacious and petite, came smiling into the Carmel Woman's Club meeting on Monday afternoon. She half skipped, half danced across to the piano, her lovely wine-colored taffeta gown, with its long train swishing behind her, and, breathlessly enthusiastic, announced her first number with a brief resumé of the story. Then came the full force of her personality which, with her excellent voice, power of expression, mastery of languages, fine comedy sense and sympathetic accompaniments, played by herself, makes her the finest interpreter of folk music and character songs to be found anywhere on this coast. Miss Steele must be seen and heard to be really appreciated. She makes such a lovely picture at the piano and her ever-changing facial expressions hold one spellbound, not to speak of her singing and playing.

Spanish, Italian, Irish, German, Danish, Norwegian and English songs were included in her repertoire. One of the fine features of the foreign songs is the story of the song told in English with which Miss Steele precedes each of her numbers. With that to go on, so expressive is her voice and face, that no one needs to know the words. Miss Steele is a fine artist and the Woman's Club through her, can close their season with a very happy memory.

Mrs. Ross Miller opened the meeting with an informal president's report in which she stressed the value of the club to newcomers to the town. It was there that they first made contacts in the strange town, and pleasant ones they were, as she could speak from experience. Mrs. Miller said that she had enjoyed her year as president and paid a tribute to each member of her executive board, each of whom, she felt, had helped the year to be so pleasant. She also stated that the various sections had carried on as small individual clubs within the club, each having a successful season under their chairman.

Mrs. Denny Roper read the treasurer's report. The club started the year with a working balance of $60.22 and ended with a total of $104.25. In the savings account there stands to the credit of the club $508.22 against $498 last year. This is the financial standing of the club until the results of the book sale of the book section is made known. The total membership is 127, consisting of 118 paid memberships, 3 complimentary and 6 absentee. There were 30 initiated into the membership during the year and 69 guests have been present at the meetings.

The names of those members selected for the executive board for the coming year by the nominating committee were read by Miss Ruth Huntington and unanimously elected. They are Mrs. Ross C. Miller, Mrs. J. E. Abernethy, Mrs. E. Frederick Smith, Mrs. W. E. Heathorne, Mrs. Fraser Hancock, Mrs. Denney Roper, Mrs. E. A. Fraser, Mrs. F. W. Clampett, Mrs. John L. Fitch, Mrs. Halyard and Miss Agnes Ford These members will meet with the outgoing board on May 15 and at that time the various executive positions will be allocated.

Tea followed the meeting.

Youth Group Gets $100 from City

The Carmel Youth Progressive Association, recently-formed group of young men between high school age and 25 which has now a membership of 30, was granted $100 by the city council on Wednesday night to assist in their project to provide a suitable recreation center.

Councilman Fred Bechdolt spoke in behalf of the association, of which he is a sponsor, along with By Ford, Robert Norton, Kip Silvey, Argyll Campbell, Fred McIndoe, Ranald Cockburn, and Capt. J. Shelburn Robison.

Ray Hamilton and Gordon Bain appeared for the association and thanked the council. They explained that the group members plan to contribute their own labor in finishing and outfitting their headquarters and that this improvement might be contributed as against rent of the location. They said that about $1200 was needed for materials.

The association includes a number of carpenters, painters and other skilled workmen.

Mrs. Mabel Sampson has designed the clever French peasant costumes now being worn by her help at the Normandy Inn. These new outfits give a definitely fitting effect in keeping with the attractive nature of the Normandy.

Consequences of War in Spain to be Lecture Topic

Spain after the war, and the bearing that a new fascist country will have on the world will be the topic of two lectures to be given by Barney Spaulding and David Thompson, who both saw service in the war-torn area, when they come to Carmel on Thursday, May 11, at the Greene studio.

Both speakers feel that most people underestimate the danger that a fascist Spain brings to the Western hemisphere, as the Spanish Falange, a fascist organization, is already active in the West Indies, Mexico, and Central and South America. This point, and conditions of the refugees, will be outlined.

Spaulding, who left Spain on Feb. 7, was detained for what he describes as '26 horrible days in the border concentration camps maintained by the French government." Of this experience he says: "People were dying at the rate of 25 a day; epidemics being very frequent, especially typhus. What condition is France in when she cannot trust her own soldiers to guard helpless refugees, but instead hires ferocious and brutal Sengalese troops who have absolutely no mercy for any of the unfortunate people in the camp."

Before going to Spain, Spaulding was a member of the Marine Fireman's Union of San Francisco. Thompson, who is a nephew of Kathleen and Charles G. Norris, and William Rose Benet, left his job on the old "Life" magazine to join the International Brigade. Both speakers are native Californians.

At present, sponsors for the lectures are Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Kellogg, Dr. Margaret Swigart, Miss Clara Kellogg, Henry F. Dickinson, Miss Ella Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert, Dr. R. A. Kocher, Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger and Mrs. J. L. Williams.

Admission will be free to the talk, which will begin at 8:15.

Anne Martin on "Power Balance" Policy Abroad

Miss Anne Martin, speaking on "British Foreign Policy" before the foreign policy group of the League of Women Voters on Thursday of last week at the Girl Scout house, traced English foreign policy from the Spanish Armada in 1588 down to the world war to show that the British system of "balance of power" meant uniting with different powers to destroy her strongest rival on the continent.

Giving as an instance she said that in 1914-18 this rival was Germany. The treaty of Versailles left England ruler over more than one-fourth of the land and peoples of the earth. With France, she was the chief "have", and Germany and Italy the chief "have not" European nations.

Although the League of Nations was formed in 1919 it was incomplete and unable to function as a world league and Britain continued her balance of power policy, backed by France, thus further weakening the League and collective security.

An effort to revise the very unfair treaty of Versailles as regards Germany and Italy and open raw materials to them through an international committee of the League of Nations might have averted the present European situation in which the Rome-Berlin axis is seeking to right an unjust peace by force, according to Miss Martin.

Chamberlin began too late his policy of "appeasement", of "learning to live with the dictators". His policy at Munich was to drive a wedge through Central Europe, separating France from her allies Czecho-Slovakia and Soviet Russia, to send Hitler southeast in Europe away from the treasure house of western Europe, of Paris and of London, and to secure to the ruling classes of Britain their privileges free from Communism. "He may have sown the wind to reap the whirlwind," Miss Martin said.

Both sides, however, seem to be maneuvering, play-acting, shadow-boxing, while "saving face" to give each side what it wants without war, for both sides, the democracies and dictatorships, know that war would cost them their jobs, leave Europe a shambles, and hasten Communism.

So, whether Chamberlain is acting from pacifist conviction or expediency, believers in peace can take comfort in the statement in his Birmingham speech that "war cures nothing, wins nothing, ends nothing", and still hope that the way will remain open for settlement by negotiation and conference. Peace even at "any price" is surely to be preferred to the destruction of the millions of young men who will do the fighting, and bring the ruin of European culture and civilization.

War is too high a price to pay, Miss Martin stated, and pointed out that future security must depend on a League of Nations that is truly a world league and able to function.

CODED SIREN TESTED, CODE YET TO BE MADE

Carmel's fire department has a coded siren, which replaced this week the well-known siren which has been used for many years. The code for various districts, however, has yet to be worked out. Already two alarms have been sounded on the new siren, on Monday night for a minor fire at Vining's on Dolores street and false alarm for a controlled brush fire on north Mission street. The new siren was given a thorough test Sunday.

Orson Welles, commenting upon the top honors in radio drama recently awarded him by the Women's National Radio Committee, said—"I've always believed that if you put adult entertainment on the air, you would find the radio audience enjoying and appreciating it. All this talk about radio listeners having the mentality of children is nonsense. Those who listen to broadcasts are the same people who go to plays and movies, read books and magazines.

"Radio is just about the best story teller there is and my one object on the Campbell Playhouse has always been to pick good stories and tell them just as well as I know how."

This Friday evening, May 5, Welles will present a dramatization of Nevile Shute's "Ordeal." (KSF, KNX—5 p. m.). This is a third in his new series devoted to adaptations of new novels, autobiographies, histories, or adventure stories. "Ordeal", concerns an ordinary family's plight at the start of the next war.

Regarding these Friday evening broadcasts, may I say OYEZ! OYEZ! OYEZ!

WEEK'S MAIL

Tehachapi, Calif., April 23.

Mr. Jas. L. Cockburn,
Associate Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone,

Dear Mr. Cockburn:

Some time ago The Pine Cone carried an editorial regarding the present Oklahoma situation in California and also expressed the editor's ideas of how the people of California should offer them the welcome sign. In your book review of John Steinbeck's new novel, "The Grapes of Wrath", in the last edition, you carry on in the same vein.

Having been born and raised in Carmel myself, I know fairly well the attitude of the people of Carmel towards outsiders moving in so naturally I am much amused at The Pine Cone's new attitude.

Have you or the editor ever lived in a community literally over-run with this new type of migrant? I have been in one for nearly ten months now, and suggest that you try doing it in order to get both sides of a mighty important subject.

It is a fact that there are some mighty fine future citizens among them but from what I have seen of them in this particular part of the State they are in the minority.

We, here in California, have enough of a burden on our shoulders already regarding the unemployment situation without adding to it.

It is fine for people, living in communities which do not come in contact with the situation, to write and say high-sounding phrases about what we will do and should do but what of the rest of us who have to carry them along as well as ourselves. You in Carmel, know practically nothing about the real gravity of the situation, so it is my suggestion that you endeavor to make a real study of it, admit them to your own community, and then let's see what type of editorial you will write.

Of course this is just a suggestion, but I am sure you will admit yourself it is a fair one.

My regards to my friends in Carmel and best wishes to the Carmel Pistol Club. I follow their events with great interest but wish that you would give them better write-ups.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM G. WHITE.

(Editor's Note: It is refreshing and enlightening to get points of view other than those we have expressed).

Players Make Amends With "Ceiling Zero"

The Carmel Players put on a performance of "Ceiling Zero" at Sunset auditorium last Saturday evening that made up for their original production of this aviation thriller three weeks ago. Only a small audience, however, was there to cheer on the Players who were fighting to win back their laurels on this play.

Chick McCarthy, in the final three weeks, showed better what he could do with directing a cast that this time knew its lines almost faultlessly. Technically, the play was also improved. Depending largely on the use of loudspeakers for radio and other sound effects important to the thread of the story, the play this time whipped along at a good clip and voices over the "radio" came through clearly.

Only the difficulty of hearing some of the voices, a difficulty frequently remarked upon in the auditorium, at times blurred the effect.

Del Page, as Dizzy Davis, the dashing airman, made a fine job of his difficult part, and Dick Merrill, as the airport superintendent, almost as much a lead part, carried off important and difficult business with ability.

Patty Lou Elliott, as the pretty air hostess who falls for the blandishments of Dizzy, repeated her first good performance, and George Woolsey, who stood out as the broken pilot in the first performances, continued to play his role with the same certain, reserved touch.

Joining the cast for this one performance were Ross Miller, Jack Schroeder and Roland Scheffler. Schroeder, himself an insurance man, did a swell job as an insurance man—not always so easy at that!

Altogether the play was well done, left a good taste in the mouth, made up for the first unprepared presentation, and wound up the winter season.

Ahead for the Carmel Players is the summer season, with a play to be ready for sometime in June or shortly thereafter.

THE SCHOOL SITE BALLOTING

Those who go to the poll next Tuesday to cast their ballots on the proposed high school sites will remember that this is not an official election, has no legal standing, and is therefore not binding upon the school board. This, it should be emphasized, is no reason whatever for failing to go to the polls—it is necessary that every elector in the Sunset district should make known his preference.

Those who in the recent Library bond election did not turn out because they felt assured that the bonds would pass by a comfortable margin, have a chance to compensate for their error, and others, warned by the same defeat of the bonds, should be sure to vote.

The question of high school site has been a lively one during the past few months, but the school board has now completed its survey with the help of a committee of Carmel citizens who did a thorough job of presenting every side of the matter. The Mission Ranch site was dropped some time ago, as not obtainable, leaving the decision to be made between the Hatton Ranch and the Paradise Park sites.

The board has now stated its preference for the Hatton Ranch site, and is asking through the means of the unofficial balloting, the opinion of the people.

The statement of the board in full, as made last week, follows:

"The Board of Trustees of the Sunset School District, after giving careful consideration to the facts set forth in the report submitted by the committee on the High School site, has decided definitely in favor of the Hatton Ranch site. An important factor in the decision was a change in the original plotting by the Land Company, giving an extension of 200 feet along the highway to the south, or a total frontage of at least eleven hundred feet.

"The Board has been able to secure an option on twenty-two acres of land in the Hatton Ranch area. Within this acreage there are approximately sixteen acres of cleared, beautifully situated land, practically rectangular in shape, and ideally suitable for a High school layout.

"This layout would include the necessary class rooms, administration building, library, gymnasium, shops, space for future auditorium, tennis courts, swimming pool, large football field, parking areas, and roads for accessibility.

"The Board feels that the question of safety can be adequately and properly taken care of by means of "slow" signs, a pedestrian underpass, and special deputy supervision or police control.

"The Hatton Ranch tract, at a price of $31,000.00, gives far greater value than Paradise Park, even if the latter tract could be had for much less than its present price of $34,500.00.

"Before final action in acquiring the property, the Board wishes to have an expression of opinion on the part of the public. It, therefore, plans to submit the selection of the site for advisory balloting on Tuesday, May 9th, 1939.

"(Signed) MRS. DORIS WATSON, Chairman
HUGH W. COMSTOCK, Clerk
MISS CLARA KELLOGG."

The Carmel Pine Cone again recommends the Hatton Ranch site and urges all citizens to back the school board to the limit.

California has often been called, and justly, the vacationists' wonderland. Its 18 national forests offer a major attraction to tourists. The U. S. Forest Service reports that more than 4,500,000 visitors went to these forests for recreational purposes last year, plus almost 5,000,000 more who went to enjoy the scenery. Principal recreation was fishing, drawing 790,000.

RETURN

Lobos, I am returning
To lie among the broken stones
At your feet.
Perhaps I too shall break
Filling a dark crevice
With the darker shades of my being.
Then over the spent life of me
You will sing again
The secret name my ears have often heard
Myself never known.

—CHARLES FRISBIE.

JOHN KEATS

Beyond the rangeland fences, miles from streets
And dwellings of the halt, alone I took
A trail through Pagany. I brought a book
Of poems, and I dined at dusk with Keats;
Then, suddenly, the lyric that had found
A path to Ruth, who stood in tears among
The alien corn, reechoed from my tongue,
And all the world was sweet harmonious sound.

That day remains historic, strangely splendid,
Forever glorious! Too many pranks
Of passion are abrupt and quickly ended,
Leaving hearts desolate and without thanks.
Now, when I think of Keats, I ponder on
The day I met him, and I call him John.

—CARL JOHN BOSTELMANN.

WEAVER AND LOOM

This puzzling pattern, webbed from womb to tomb,
My fingers, blunt and worn, from the years' toll,
Can never clothe that I may see it whole,
A weaver, I stand, stricken, by a loom.

I cannot free and form the tangled threads,
The snarl cannot be raveled by my skill,
My hands lag, the mad shuttle now is still,
My weary feet are idle on the treads.

It is the common lot the knotted skein
Elude the nimblest fingers, that the eye
Grow dim in seeking hidden threads to tie;
That in a stern apprenticeship and pain,
I tend my frame, content each working day
To take a foreman's orders for my pay.

—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

WIND!

You came, a wind across the blue
Unto a ship becalmed;
A shiver ran the rigging through.
The sails were lifted, charmed!

Awake at once the drowsy crew
Startled beyond remorse
Took rope with every nerve they knew
To keep it to its course.

But oh the ship swung out its spars
And topped the towering foam
And flung the spray among the stars
Clipping for ports unknown!

—DANIEL HAWTHORNE.

THE SUNSET CARNIVAL

Friday, May 12, one week from today, will be the big day which Sunset celebrates every other year. The Carnival, under the Sunset Parent-Teacher Association, this year promises to be better than ever, a real community enterprise in which young and old may share in a round of joys and delights, at the same time clicking the cash-registers in favor of those who are aided by the Parent-Teacher Association.

The proceeds will go to the Parent-Teacher Association's welfare work and—as Mrs. Webster Street, association president, points out—to physical improvements at Sunset school as well. These include expenditure for musical instruments, for which the association contributed $125 last fall; equipping the school library, and outfitting of the nurse's room so that pupils may take rest periods there. Other expenses on the welfare budget include lunches, milk, medical, dental and optical work, clothes, shoes, etc. In this way the Parent-Teacher Association is accomplishing much good in a practical manner.

Stand behind the Association by supporting the Carnival. It is well worthwhile—AND you will have a good time, too.

SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

The following letter we received the other day will speak for itself. We are not publishing it in rancor, but rather for the information it contains. This refers to a payment we received recently in postage stamps, one denomination being as high as fifty cents:

"Gentlemen:

"Your letter of April 12, to the Postmaster General, regarding the refusal of your local postmaster to exchange a quantity of postage stamps which you state were received as remittances, has been referred to this office for reply.

"The information given you at the local post office to the effect that postage stamps are not redeemable in any manner or acceptable in exchange for other stamp supplies, is correct. The only redemption permissible with respect to postage stamps is in connection with the inadvertent sale of damaged or wrong denomination stamps, in which cases it is required that the stock shall be returned to the post office within two business days.

"You are further advised that postage stamps are not legal tender and are not intended to be used as remittances in lieu of currency. The Department has, therefore, made no provision for the exchange or other redemption of remittance stamps at post offices.

"Very truly yours,
"RAMSEY S. BLACK,
"Third Assistant Postmaster General."

LIFT THE QUARANTINE

A petition is being circulated in Carmel to ask the state authorities to lift the rabies quarantine on the Carmel area where there has been no rabies case reported by county health authorities. There is no apparent reason why the quarantine should be imposed any longer in Carmel, so long as dogs on the Monterey side of the peninsula are controlled as the law requires.

However, those who should be impartial and fully informed should not fail to read the article on rabies in a recent issue of "Ken" magazine. This article, with photographs showing the progress of this frightful disease in a grown man and a little girl were placed this week in an exhibit of the California Medical Association during its convention at Del Monte, thereby giving credence to the journalistic work of "Ken."

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

Old Carmel atmosphere, of the days of lonely dunes and wind blown trees, of the days that saw the arrival in our midst of the poet, Robinson Jeffers, and his wife, Una, while Ocean avenue was yet a dirt road divided down the middle by a row of sprouting young pines, is caught in a reflective glow by Edith Greenan (Mrs. James Greenan).

Her book, "Of Una Jeffers", is announced this week and a few privileged friends have been permitted a preview by means of the galley proofs. We find that Mrs. Greenan, herself in tune with the elemental beauty of this god-gifted place we call Carmel, has brought to the written word some of this beauty, at the same time weaving an intimate and moving story of Una Jeffers, the wife who willed to flourish the genius that is Robinson Jeffers, today America's foremost poet.

Who but Mrs. Greenan could write so intimate a story of Una? And at the same time so fair an appraisal! The story begins at the time that Edith Emmons was engaged to Edward Kuster, whom Carmel knows as a protagonist of the little theater, whose first wife was Una. Una married Jeffers. Edith married Kuster, whom she since divorced, and she is now the wife of James Greenan, mining man who divides his time between Carmel, which his wife loves, and Nevada, which he as passionately loves. Only a short time ago found these two couples and Edward and Gabrielle Kuster all living happily within a stone's throw on Carmel Point.

Jeffers, in a prologue, points out such friendships would have been impossible for a generation earlier than theirs. It was largely through the changing modes that the author and Una Jeffers could meet and develop their close attachment which each felt for the other. Of this Mrs. Greenan writes most feelingly, and it is a keystone of her brief but generous and genuine book, which she dedicates, as a true mother, to her three children, Maeve, Jimmy and Owen.

There is a prologue by Robinson Jeffers, an epilogue by Una Jeffers, and three hitherto unpublished poems of the era covered.

Among persons and places mentioned are Andrew Stewart, Mary Austin, Louis Slevin, Haig (the Jeffers' bulldog which died recently at Tor House), Ella Young, Irish poetess, and Mabel Dodge Luhan, both visitors; and Goold's stables and Tom Cator's house, among the early Carmel landmarks.

"Of Una Jeffers" is published by the Ward Ritchie Press, Los Angeles.

Albert Rhys Williams, author of "The Soviets", paid his first visit to Carmel last week after a long absence during which he went to Russia, there had close contact with U. S. Ambassadors Bullitt and Davies, and to Spain, where he saw bombings and the emigre tide sweeping into France after the Franco victory.

Rhys Williams, who lived in Carmel for several years while completing in its first form his voluminous and authoritative book, now makes his home near Nanaimo, on Vancouver Island, British Columbia, continues to bring up to date "The Soviets."

Of bombing in Spain, Williams tells some hair-raising experiences, of strange and terrifying sights in the charnel houses where bodies were taken for identification, of sudden death in cities where in spite of impending destruction life went on its steady pace between air raids.

His wife, Lucita, and son, Rhys, have been living at Cedar, near Nanaimo, for some time. Together once more, the Williams will continue to reside there, far from the disturbances of Europe, on one of the last frontiers of this hemisphere.

Miss M. DeNeale Morgan, a pioneer Carmel artist, who continues to put the regional scene on canvas with a vigorous brush, is having a one-man show at the Oliver and Sammons galleries in Berkeley.

An excerpt from a notice in the Oakland Post Enquirer says of Miss Morgan's work, well known to most Carmelites: There is life in her paintings, motion, sweeping lines. Trees and shadows form lovely patterns, with clouds and with fields of sunlight, on rock and road. Miss Morgan, whose studio is at Carmel, studied with Emil Carlson and Amedee Joullin and later with William M. Chase. Miss Morgan is a pioneer in painting and comes from pioneer stock in the art of living. She has exhibited in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Chicago, San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles.

Ronald Johnson is back in Carmel once again—after a Chinese period. Johnson, who used to write for The Pine Cone and then went to China to enter the radio business, had a thriving program on Station XMHA in Shanghai. It seems the Japanese got tough . . .

Johnson, who has a card which is printed in English on one side, in Chinese on the other, became manager of XMHA in short order, worked, just before the Japanese put up a station to operate on the same wave length, and with enough power to drown out XMHA, from 8 a. m. to 1 a. m. He also amused himself, when he found time, walking through the desolate city after curfew drove 4,000,000 Chinese to cover early each evening. A curfew pass permitted him to be one of the few individuals besides the Chinese police to be abroad after hours.

Like a great many people who have lived in Carmel and then gone away, Johnson is glad to be back here . . . hopes to stay.

With this week's issue of The Pine Cone, Bernard McCreery, who like so many Californians, even so many Carmelites, was born in Iowa, will begin his column "Oyez!" which is a radio column—not American slang or a Spanish salud.

McCreery, who is making his home in Carmel during the next few months, was born in Iowa 24 years ago, but moved out to this coast to attend the University of California where he took a course in journalism.

From there he went into radio, learned it from every angle, and, the single biggest thing he has accomplished, began the first liberal-labor program in San Francisco. He found time also to work on newspapers in Stockton and the San Joaquin valley. At present he is all around assistant for KDON.

You may perhaps recall a one-time resident of Carmel in Leonard Bacon, author of "Semi-Centennial", "a witty, civilized, urbane adventure in autobiography", now off the presses.

Bacon writes in this volume of Carmel and his days here, but not without misspelling at least one name, that of Dr. Herman Spoehr. (There seems to be an epidemic of misspelling of proper names in present-day writing, which reference to an atlas or a biographical index could have so easily corrected!)

Bacon calls Carmel "one of the loveliest and least satisfactory villages in America." He says "you couldn't swing a cat without knocking down a poetess" in Carmel's confines, and mentions such sterling persons associated with Carmel as Jimmy Hopper, Dr. Sphoehr (spelled Spohr) and the late Burton Williams.

Warm sunshine, flowering gardens and soft breezes gave Armin Hansen and his life-class students at the Carmel Art Institute spring fever and lured them into the outdoors this week. So they gathered up their palettes and brushes and boxes of colors, and, of course, their easels and stools, and away they went to Dorothy Bassett's garden in the northern part of Carmel. The model was seated under a flowering tree with a book to read while Mr. Hansen and the students got to work. Nearby was Miss Bassett's pottery sheds and her kiln and then along came Myron Oliver to take photographs of the busy group. It was a scene which any passing visitor would have thought stamped Carmel definitely as a center of the arts. Kit Whitman, director of the Art Institute, says that this is to be a feature of Mr. Hansen's classes from now on. One week each month will be spent working outdoors with the model.

Announced last Saturday afternoon in Piedmont at a delightful luncheon and bridge was the engagement of Miss Mary Bale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bale of Piedmont, to Fenton William Grigsby of Salinas, son of Mrs. Louise Grigsby of Carmel. They plan to be married in June and will make their home in Salinas where Mr. Grigsby is connected with the Standard Oil Company. Present from Carmel at the party in Piedmont last Saturday were Mrs. Louise Grigsby, Mrs. Nelle Leyman, Mrs. Kathryn Lansdowne and Miss Mary Agnes Grigsby.

Mrs. Nelle Leyman, Mrs. Kathryn Landsdowne and Mrs. Louise Grigsby, all sisters, entertained a group of their friends at supper at the Mission Ranch club and by bridge, last Friday evening. The long table and several smaller ones were decorated with low centerpieces of mixed seasonal flowers and the color scheme otherwise was pure white, used with silver and crystal. Bridge as played in the clubhouse itself which was gaily decorated with spring flowers. The prizes were in keeping with the garden like atmosphere of the clubhouse that evening, being garden hats, weeding mats, trowels and watering cans, while packets of garden seeds went to those clever enough to achieve grand slams. Assisting the hostesses were Miss Clara Hinds, Mrs. Fraser Hancock and Miss Helen Woolsey. Other guests were Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger, Mrs. F. A. Greatwood, Mrs. Margaret Kilpatrick, Mrs. John Jordan, Mrs. Harry Nye, Mrs. Joseph Hooper, Mrs. C. W. Sly, Mrs. Betty Newell, Mrs. Denny Roper, Mrs. James Ainsworth, Mrs. C. L. Kit Whitman boarded a plane last Friday afternoon bound for San Francisco, where she had been invited by the manager of the "Of Mice and Men" company. She stopped long enough at the St. Francis Hotel to unpack her bag and then was away to the theater to see the play. At the theater she had the front row all to herself and after the performance was invited backstage to meet the cast which includes Wallace Ford and Lon Chaney, Jr. With them she went to the Music Box for supper and spent a pleasant hour or so listening to theater talk.

Visitors in Carmel last week were Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Cole of Vancouver, B. C., and thier two children, Eleanor and Dennis. The Coles looked over the peninsula and were so pleased that they are planning to return next fall to stay for the winter.

Harpsichord to be Added to Instruments for Bach Festival

The Bach Festival this summer will have the services of a harpsichordist, Alice Ehlers, who will bring her valuable and comparatively rare instrument for the festival which is scheduled by the Denny-Watrous management for July 17.

It is the same Alice Ehlers, Viennese musician, of whom Olin Downes wrote in the New York Times, "She has, as a harpsichord player, every desirable quality, including amazing virtuosity, precision, capacity to sing a phrase, which is as conspicuous as her clean articulation, taste, and a temperament which carries everything before it", will play in the opening program of Carmel's Fifth Annual Bach Festival.

Madame Ehlers came to America last winter, and has since played with many of the country's major orchestras, including the Philadelphia, Boston, New York and Los Angeles. Of her art the London Daily Telegraph wrote: "There may conceivably be harpsichordists living who are as good as Alice Ehlers — though this seems doubtful, but there is certainly no better."

Young Musicians Given Warm Welcome in Recital

A small but enthusiastic Carmel audience had the pleasure of hearing, at the Green Room, three young people from Berkeley, give the classics "con amore", on Thursday of last week. In these days of swing and other musical distortions, it was a welcome experience to witness the love and reverence with which beautiful music was beautifully given.

Miss Catherine Connolly, 'cellist, opened the concert with the lovely Concerto in A minor by Saint-Saens. Her deep tones were rich and smooth and had an organ-like quality while the lighter passages showed a facile technique. It was a most delightful playing of this superb work.

In the next group, Henry Bach presented songs by Gluck, Schubert, Brahms, Grieg and Richard Strauss. The Minuetto of Gluck was delightfully done as Bach is the fortunate possessor of a clear tenor voice, which he uses with intelligence. His upper tones are of a lovely quality and the song "Vergebliches Standchen" by Brahms, was especially pleasing. Bach is also to be complimented on his German diction.

After the intermission, Bach gave a group of English songs of which "Go, Lovely Rose" by Quilter was particularly lovely, and Miss Connolly played compositions by Chopin, Debussy and Ravel. These were well played but the favorite was the Saint-Saens Concerto with which she opened the concert.

Last on the program were two numbers sung by Bach with 'cello obligato by Miss Connolly, who herself arranged the 'cello part to "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

Throughout the evening the artists were ably supported by Edgar Sparks at the piano. His sympathetic accompaniments and understanding of the quality of the music added much to the charm of the concert. Too often fine singing is marred by poor accompaniment.

The well-chosen program was given with easy grace and beauty of expression and seldom is heard so young a singer express such joy in the beauty of words and music, with notes beautifully rounded and placed, enunciation clear, phrasing beautiful. The accompanist was both sympathetic and talented. It was indeed a rare treat to hear the three young artists.—(Contributed).

Filmarte Showing Story of a Cheat

Sacha Guitry, the Moliere of the contemporary French stage, and idol of Paris, has brought to the screen, as only Guitry could, his brilliant novel, "The Story of a Cheat", which plays next Wednesday to Saturday at the Filmarte theater.

"The Story of a Cheat" begins with a small boy punished for theft by being denied mushrooms at the family dinner. After the funeral of the 11 relatives — the mushrooms having been toadstools—the boy realizes he had been spared because he stole, wondered if his family died because they were honest.

He resists the philosophy as he grows up, but it was no use, as invariably he was punished for being honest; he had to cheat to protect himself.

Richard Tauber in "Heart's Desire" plays Sunday to Tuesday. "Heart's Desire" is a romance of old Vienna.

Ronald Telfer to Read "Merchant of Yonkers" Week from Tomorrow

Ronald Telfer will be here to read again on Saturday evening, May 13, at the American Legion Hall under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary who uses the money so raised for their child welfare and rehabilitation work.

Telfer reads at 8:30 and has chosen Thornton Wilder's latest play, "The Merchant of Yonkers." This play is at present starring Jane Cowl in New York and is full of boisterious humor.

This will be Telfer's last appearance here this season and those who have heard him already need no inducement to go again but for those who have not been fortunate enough to hear him, let it be stated that he is not only an excellent reader but extracts every bit of humor and every dramatic possibility from his chosen play.

CARMEL PISTOL CLUB TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY

The Carmel Pistol Club will meet at the club's rooms next Tuesday for its monthly meeting. A large turnout is expected to discuss future shoots and plans for the summer. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Sunset Pupils Witness Cavalcade of West on World's Fair Visit

"This performance of the Cavalcade of the Golden West is dedicated to the boys and girls of Sunset School." This was the announcement that came over the broadcast system of the World's Fair at Treasure Island on last Saturday afternoon, and if you don't believe it was a thrilling moment to the 45 boys and girls of Mrs. Ann Uzzell's Seventh Grade class, just ask one of them about it! There were 10,000 children on Treasure Island that afternoon, but the cheers that went up from Carmel's own when they heard those words identified them at once.

The trip, carefully planned in advance by Mrs. Uzzell, was made by bus. The party arrived about 11 o'clock, was met by an exposition guide, and taken immediately to the House of Magic, the Voder, and other interesting exhibits in the Hall of Science. Outside, the weather was perfect, thousands of tulips were in bloom, and the happiness and behavior of the boys and girls matched the weather and the tulip beds in leaving nothing to be desired.

Two happy hours were spent on the Gayway, and then a complete circuit of the Fair was made under the leadership of R. J. Gale, who had been asked by the boys and girls to go along as guide. Beside Mrs. Uzzell and Gale, the group was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Squires and Mrs. Frank Sappok.

At 1:15 a. m. when the group arrived in Carmel, San Carlos street was lined with the cars of parents waiting for the children. Good-nights were sleepy, but happy, and everyone concerned felt that it was one of those delightful occasions which linger in the memory for a long time

The children who went to the Fair were: Jim Handley, Sandy Burhams, Luther Askew, Marie Stever, John Graham, Irving Williams, Maxine Chappell, Vivian Ohm, Jim Greenan, Billy Wishart, Hans Sappok, John Weigold, Jack Bradley, Jack Gansel, Donald Mooring, Richard McKnight, Jewel Moody, Clara Joy Hitchcock, Bill Monroe, Roy Parsons, Bill Briner, Norvell Yerkes, Tommy Leach, Russell Boklhe, Dick Uzzell, Milton Thompson, Mary Fleming, Ruth Smith, Cynthia Klein, Donna Thomas, Dorothy McEntyre, Eileen McElDowney, Richard Cota, Walter Warren, Bill Goss, John Mooring, Bob Holm, Louis Levinson, Jr., Dean Michels, John Wood, Barbara Bolin, Suzanne Watson, Noreen Kelsey, Gordy Miyamoto and Bobby Morton.

"Cafe Society" Carmel Screen Featured Film

Madeleine Carroll, British actress, who is generally accepted as the screen's most beautiful woman, plays the lead in Paramount's "Cafe Society" at the Carmel theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Two popular co-stars in this gay ribbing of New York's much publicized smart set are Fred McMurry and Shirley Ross.

Miss Carroll, who portrays the super-sophisticated and bored Manhattan socialite, won her first fame in this country in the dramatic "Case Against Mrs. Ames", which was followed by "The General Died at Dawn", "Lloyds of London" and "Prisoner of Zenda." Her most recent film was "Blockade."

"Cafe Society" is filled with characters and situations which any steady reader of the newspapers and magazines will easily recognize, from publicity-hunting debutantes to the malicious gossip columnists.

Denny-Watrous Give Program for Music Series in San Jose

Miss Anderson made a great hit with her concert there this spring.

Other Bible citations will include: "But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, . . . Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness" (II Pet. 3: 10, 11, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "A knowledge of evil was never the essence of divinity or manhood. In the first chapter of Genesis, evil has no local habitation nor name. Creation is there represented as spiritual, entire, and good" (p. 537).

Junior High Curriculum Announced For Next Year

Carmel Junior High School will make its debut next August with a curriculum drawn up by Otto W. Bardarson, district superintendent of schools, who this week made the following announcement of tentative plans:

With an augmented staff of teachers, an unusually broad and interesting program for Carmel students has been organized. The curriculum which has been outlined with the approval of the State Department of Education, includes a basic course of sound educational and cultural value, required of all students. In addition, the school will offer a wide variety of electives, in order to provide opportunity for the children to explore many fields of interest, and to provide a choice in the type of work which they wish to undertake.

Required courses in the ninth grade includes Science, Social Living, Physical Education and English. Students in this grade will be allowed several choices from the following electives which the school expects to offer: Algebra, General Math and Junior Business, Latin, French, Spanish, Journalism, Dramatics, Cooking, Sewing, Home Making, Art, Pottery, Woodwork, Metal Work, Orchestra, Vocal Music, A Cappella Choir.

The eighth grade required courses are Social Living, English, Science, Mathematics, Physical Education, Library, and Music. Electives for the students include Art, Shop, Cooking, Journalism, Sewing, Dramatics, and Foreign Language.

In the seventh grade the basic course includes Social Living, English, Music, Library, Physical Education, Science, and Mathematis. Electives are Art, Shop, Cooking, Dramatics, Sewing and Orchestra.

In each grade a daily period is set aside for guidance and student activities. A number of clubs will be organized during this period, after a survey of the children's interests. Clubs will be under the leadership of teachers best qualified in the field chosen. Parents will be contacted during the last two weeks in May and asked to confer with faculty members and to participate in outlining their children's program in the ninth grade.

Paying Guest Zoning Factors Discussed by City Council

Reinforcement of the city's legal position as regards single and multiple family dwellings and paying guests is imminent.

First reading of an ordinance to clear up legal points was given Wednesday; but, where it had been intended to limit paying guests to three to a residence and/or guest house on the same lot, this number was left at five, as before.

Women Voters League to Hear L. A. Juvenile Court Attache Speak

The Monterey County League of Women Voters will hold their next luncheon meeting at Pine Inn on Thursday, May 11, at 11:45, when Mrs. James B. Boyle of San Marino will be the speaker.

Mrs. Boyle is a referee attached to the Los Angeles juvenile court and will be remembered for her talk here last year on child welfare and juvenile court work. She will discuss other phases of this work on Thursday.

The federal aid to education group will continue to meet throughout May each Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Douglas Carter.

There will be no regular board meeting this month.

MRS. RICHARDSON LUCAS TO LECTURE AT ALL SAINTS; BENEFIT AMSTERDAM FUND

The Women's Guild of All Saints' Church is sponsoring a benefit affair, this next Wednesday afternoon, May 10 at 3:00 p. m. at All Saints' Church. Mrs. Richardson Lucas will be the speaker. Mrs. Lucas, who is a nationally well known author, lecturer and clubwoman, chairman of Peace Projects at the Fair and a participant in the League of Nations Council, will have a timely topic, "Bread and Reconciliation." The amount raised by admission charges, which are 50 cents per person, will be the Guild's contribution to the "Amsterdam Fund", which aims to help defray Mr. Hulsewé's expenses in attending the World Conference of Christian Youth to be held in Amsterdam in July. Tickets can be procured from Mrs. G. W. Jordan, phone 786-W or at the door. Tea will be served.

Carmel High School to be Official Name

What will we call the new hig school?

This question was answered by the Sunset school board at a meeting last week, when Hugh W. Comstock stated that it will be named "Carmel High School."

The district will go under the name of "Carmel unified high school district" after July 1, when it attains that status officially.

Until then the Sunset board is acting in that capacity, and will at that time become a five-man board. Two members will be named by County Superintendent of Schools, James G. Force, and one trustee elected to succeed Miss Clara Kellogg.

Mrs. Louise Levinson is a candidate for the position.
